Fund performance and benchmark history<sup>2</sup>

ProShares UltraShort Yen seeks a return that is -2x the return of a benchmark (target) for a single day, as measured from one NAV calculation to the next. Due to the compounding of daily returns, returns over periods other than one day will likely differ in amount and possibly direction from the target return for the same period. These effects may be more pronounced in funds with larger or inverse multiples and in funds with volatile benchmarks. Investors should monitor holdings consistent with their strategies, as frequently as daily. For more on correlation, leverage and other risks, please read the prospectus.

The performance quoted represents past performance and does not guarantee future results. Investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when sold or redeemed, may be worth more or less than the original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance quoted. Performance data current to the most recent month-end may be obtained by calling 866.776.5125 or visiting ProShares.com. Benchmark performance does not reflect any management fees, transaction costs or expenses. Benchmarks are unmanaged and one cannot invest directly in any benchmark.

ProShares are not suitable for all investors. Short ProShares should lose value when their market benchmarks rise—a result that is opposite from traditional ETFs. Futures trading involves a substantial risk of loss.

<sup>1</sup>Expense ratio does not include brokerage commissions and related fees paid by the fund. <sup>2</sup>Market returns are based on the primary market closing price and do not represent the returns you would receive if you traded shares at other times. The first trading date is typically several days after the fund inception date. Therefore, NAV is used to calculate market returns prior to the first trade date. <sup>3</sup>When the yen appreciates relative to the U.S. dollar, the JPY/USD exchange rate increases, and vice versa. The JPY/USD exchange rate is expressed as a rate that reflects the number of U.S. dollars that can be exchanged for one yen, as provided each day by Bloomberg. <sup>4</sup>Correlation<sup>4</sup> is a measure of the strength and direction of a linear relationship between two variables. <sup>5</sup>Beta<sup>5</sup> is a measure of the slope, which is the steepness of the line drawn through the fund return vs. the benchmark return on a daily basis. © 2015 PCM 2014-5320

<sup>6</sup>"Volatility" refers to annualized standard deviation, a statistical measure that captures the variations from the mean of an index's returns and that is often used to quantify the risk of the index over a specific time period. The higher the volatility, the more an index's returns fluctuate over time.

This ETF does not invest directly in currencies. This ETF invests substantially in financial instruments linked to the performance of currencies, such as swap agreements, forward contracts, and futures and options contracts, which may be subject to greater volatility than investments in traditional securities. Certain of these financial instruments will also subject the fund to counterparty risk and credit risk, which could result in significant losses for the fund. There are additional risks due to debt, inflation and interest rates, investment activity, and global political and economic concerns. Investing in this ETF involves substantial risk, including loss of principal. ProShares are generally non-diversified and entail certain risks, including risk associated with the use of derivatives (swap agreements, futures contracts and similar instruments), imperfect benchmark correlation, leverage and market price variance. These risks may pose risks different from, or greater than, those associated with a direct investment in the securities underlying the funds' benchmarks, can increase volatility, and may dramatically decrease performance. Narrowly focused investments typically exhibit higher volatility. Please see the summary and full prospectuses for a more complete description of risks. There is no guarantee any ProShares ETF will achieve its investment objective.
